whether it has come to the notice of Government that a large number of child labourers are employed in mining in the Bellary-Hospet region in Karnataka;

whether any cases have been booked against mining contractors who have violated the Child Labour Act;

whether it is a fact that the failure of traditional occupations like agriculture and weaving has forced parents to send their children to do hazardous work in mines; and Yes, Sir. 40 cases booked.

Failure of agricultural crops in some districts of Karnataka and neighbouring states has led to the migration of labour to the mining areas of Bellary-Hospet region in Karnataka. The children of these families have migrated along with their parents to the mining areas.

Government of India is implementing the scheme of National Child Labour Projects (NCLPs) in 250 child labour endemic districts of the country. 17 districts of the State, including Bellary are covered under the Scheme of NCLP. It envisages a sequential action-oriented approach for the abolition of child labour starting with children working in the most hazardous occupations to covering all forms of child labour. Under the Scheme, special schools are opened for the working children withdrawn from hazardous occupations with the objective of preparing them to join the formal education system. Under the special schools children are provided with education, vocational training, nutrition, stipend and health care etc.

400 child labourers are rehabilitated in the special schools being run under the scheme of National Child Labour Projects (NCLP) in Bellary. Apart from this, 1074 children are rehabilitated under the scheme of Sarva Siksha Abhiyan.
